

EDGEWATER FOODS APPOINTS PR GLOBAL CONCEPT AS EUROPEAN FINANCIAL COMMUNICATIONS FIRM

GAITHERSBURG, MD—OCTOBER 11, 2006. Edgewater Foods International, Inc. (OTC BB: EDWT) announced today the engagement of PR Global Concept GBR to provide international public and investor relations.

PR Global (<http://www.pr-global-concept.com>) is a Germany based firm specializing in international public and investor relations with a main focus on corporate profiling and in financial communications. Through these activities, PR Global increases awareness of foreign small cap companies among European financial institutions. To generate this awareness, they use state of the art communication tools and proven strategies. PR Global considers itself an intermediary between early stage companies and potential investors and is capable of "building bridges" to help client companies establish new sales markets and business relationships utilizing PR Global Concept's international network of partners collaborating to achieve the objectives defined by its client companies.

"For years the European community has embraced and accepted the aquaculture industry and we are excited to introduce Edgewater Foods to new markets. PR Global is uniquely positioned with the experience and expertise to educate the investment community about Edgewater Foods," stated Robert Saunders, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer.

Edgewater Foods International's wholly owned subsidiary, Island Scallops, Ltd. is the predominant producer of live "in the shell" scallop products in North America. There are no known direct competitors in the scallop farming business in British Columbia and ISL is the only hatchery producing the Pacific scallop. The Company sells scallop seed to a number of small independent scallop growers who sell their products into the same marketplace; however, production from these growers totals less than 500,000 scallops per year. Five British Columbia joint venture farmers are currently farming scallops and receive scallop seed, technology, and support in an arrangement with ISL.

ISL currently distributes the scallops through specialty wholesalers with particular expertise in selling to restaurants, and has developed a market for whole live scallops that exceeds 5,000 lbs. per week into Vancouver. As distribution is expanded, the Company will continue to focus on specialty wholesalers with strong ties to major restaurants.

ISL, a Vancouver Island aquaculture company, was established in 1989 and for over 15 years has successfully operated a scallop farming and marine hatchery business. ISL's scallop farms are situated along both the east and west coasts of Vancouver Island. These facilities represent the largest private marine research hatchery and the first fully integrated shellfish producer in Canada.

ISL is dedicated to the farming, processing and marketing of high quality, high value marine species: scallops and sablefish (or blackcod). Farmed scallops are relatively new to North America and ISL is the only producer of both live-farmed Pacific scallops and live sablefish. ISL has developed proprietary hatchery technology for the hybridization of Pacific scallops and production of juvenile blackcod. These new husbandry techniques significantly increase growth yields, while strengthening the selected strain's ability to resist disease. In the case of blackcod, there were a number of technical difficulties associated with spawning that ISL has solved with its technological innovations. As such, there are no existing competitors that produce and/or harvest both scallops and blackcod. Edgewater seeks to become a leader in the highly profitable niche seafood industry.

Through ISL, Edgewater is an aquaculture and marine hatchery that provides consumers with healthy, environmentally friendly alternatives to the current market. The unique hatchery technologies held by Edgewater give it the advantage of being a "Green" environmentally friendly business.
